Introduction

The Republic of Mauritius, SIDS in general, acutely vulnerable to the adverse effects of Climate Change:

- •Low capacity for adaptation
- Restricted land areas
- Isolated
- •Limited export-oriented economies
- High population density

The ADD Method

ADD develop a "Learning by Doing" scheme at Poudre dOr to rehabilitate a coastal strip of 200m long and upgrading a historical Monument Site.

The Local Community played the most important role.

Active Participation & a Sense of Ownership

Le Mémoire – Aerial view

- >Trust in Management Team enhanced by:
- Location of Project Office in the village
- Locally recruited staff

➤ Transparency essential for ensuring 18-month long commitment

Major events involving inhabitants

Challenges

Numerous constraints experienced:

Funds: Very strict financial measures

Limited and short project lifetime to bring a new mindset in the village

Replication and follow up after completion

Financial management

Maintaining a balanced relationship with various political factions at Village Council level the Village and its numerous historical sites

Possible twinning – "jumelage" of Poudre d'Or Village with the city of

Lorient in France

Explore the possibility of making the Poudre d'Or area including the La

Passe St Géran and Ile d'Ambre as a World Heritage Site
